

My New Beginning

A large circle is divided into four equal quadrants by a vertical and a horizontal line. In the center of this circle is a smaller circle containing the text "How I feel..." in red. This diagram is intended for a child to write their feelings in each quadrant.

What are the good things about this?

